

WELCOME to the
OXFORD MUSE DINER CLUB SHANGHAI

Oxford Muse dinner

Our aim is to pioneer new methods to improve personal, professional and intercultural relationships in ways that satisfy both private and public values.

We organize Muse dinners with a menu of conversation which allows people to bypass small-talk and acquire mutual understanding more rapidly.

We are called the Muse because we bring together HUMANISTIC high level Executives people who want inspiration to think more imaginatively about their own life out of their comfort zone.

For those who have been educated to be specialists in one subject, we offer a systematic broadening of their horizons, to enable them to be more comfortable with the different ways of thinking of different occupations experts as well as people coming from all over the world.

The outcomes we seek

- ✓ a supplement to what can be achieved by universities, networks or self-development.
- ✓ collaboration between civilisations, through the breaking down of stereotypes on China, and the discovery of what we have in common and what we can do together.

OXFORD MUSE DINNER CONCEPT

Created by Prof. Theodore ZELDIN in 2001

Philosopher, historian and contemporary thinker, Zeldin is considered an expert on social change and human relationships. He figures on Magazine Litteraire's list of the world's 100 most important thinkers.
